Hénry Morey Taken By Death Last Thursday

Prominent Local Citizen, Head Of Creamery, Shipping Assn. And Other Enterprises

Henry A. Morey, son of Austin and Sarah Bowen Morey, was born on the Morey farm in Cass township, on the 3rd day of December, 1876, and died at his home in Anamosa on June 24, 1937, at the age of 60 years, 6 months and 21 days.

The Morey family is an old established pioneer family of this vicinity. Henry's grandfather, Erastus Morey, was a substantial, well-to-do pioneer farmer.

At the Bunker Hill country school, close to the place where he was born. Henry received his education and was always interested in this school.

On March 17, 1904, he was married to Lena Carmichael of Monticello, Iowa, and they immediately moved on the Morey farm, where they lived until they moved to Anamosa, in the year 1920. He was obliged to give up farming because of a serious attack of pleurisy that left him afslicted on one side; however, he retained his interest in the Morey farm until his death.

Henry Morey was an outstanding man and citizen. He was generous and kind and always stood for the right and was a leader among his fellowmen.

In 1917, he organized the present Anamosa Farmers Creamery company and was its first manager and secretary. Under his mangement, the present creamery company building was constructed and placed in operation. This creamery became one of the outstanding creameries in eastern Iowa, doing a large amount of business and has been and is now a great factor in our community.

For a number of years, he bought, sold and shipped livestock and did; a large business, but the business methods of handling livestock were changing and he organized the Anamosa Livestock Shipping Association and was its manager for a good many years. This association developed until it was one of the largest shipping associations in eastern Iowa and was recognized as one of the best. His method of keeping records and handling the shipments was so accurate and com-

He was interested in all public enterprises and took part therein, and often was found among the officers and managers. He was an officer in the Anamosa Fair Association for many years, several times serving as president. For several years, he was assessor, for Cass township; he was a member of the Anamosa Rotary Club for a good many years and served as president.

Not only was he active in the community in all matters that aided and assisted the public, he was also interested in athletic activities, such as baseball and golf, and notwithstanding his affliction, he was one of the most enthusiastic golf players and ranked, for many years, in the upper ten of the best players of the community and one year held second place in the championship contest.

He was a lifelong member of the Anamosa Baptist church and regularly attended church, gave liberally of his substance and his personal energy. He could always be counted on as one who would help when help was needed.

He is survived by his widow, Lena Morey, his sister, Miss Nellie V Morey of this city and one brother. Roy D. Morey of Montirello, and by seven nephews and nieces. One brother, Bert Morey, preceded him in death.

AN OLD SETTLER GONE.

Mr. Erastus Morey, a resident in this vicinity for thirty-five years, died in Anamosa last Saturday at 10:15 a. m. He was born in New York, February 9, 1815, married Electa Carr in 1845 and ten years later removed to Jones county, locating less than two miles northeast of Anamosa. Here he remained until January, 1889, when he removed to town, buying the residence formerly owned by Capt. E. B. Alderman and later by Mr. Ross Hanna, corner of Cedar and Davis streets. There are four children living-E. S. Morey, Stone City; A. H. Morey, whose farm joins the old homestead: Miss Bell Morey, who resided, with her parents; and Mr. E. C. Morey, who is in business in Chicago, and who was present at the funeral.

Mr. Morey had been failing for some years, but possessed a hardy constitution, never having been confined to his bed since he came to lowa until his last and tatal illness. Priday, a week ago, he was taken with paralysis of the bowels, but kepi about until Saturday afternoon, when there seemed to be a sudden giving way of his vital powers and he took to his bed. He retained possession of his faculties until some hours preceding the final change, when the spirit took leave of its earthly tenement.

Mr. Morey was a quiet, unosteutatious, upright man, and his funeral was attended by a large number of his old friends and neighbors. The services were held at the residence Monday at one o'clock p. m., conducted by Rev. A. W. McConnell, of the Presbyterian church, assisted by Rev. A. H. Ballard, of the Baptist church. Of the children now living two sons, viz., DeWitt C. and Augustus L., live at Clark, Neb., where also resides a daughter, Mrs. Victoria Colby; another son, Martin E., lives at Momence, Ill., near Chicago, Lemuel J. lives near Olin, Mrs. Harriet Scroggs at Kirkman, Iowa, Mrs. Sarah E. Miller, recently bereft of her husband, and Mrs. Capitolia Slife live in Anamosa, the latter residing with her par ents. In 1862 Mr. and Mrs. Streeter, who also survives her husband, left their eastern home and determined to try their fortunes in the far west. determined to try their fortunes in the far west. They settled near Olin in Jones county. The county was then new. Railroads had not then penetrated this part of the state. There were but few settlers. With the spirit and courage of the true pioneer, Mr. Streeter set about making a home in the wilderness for himself and family. Prosperity attended his efforts and he was per mitted for many years to enjoy the rewards of persevering industry. The family moved to Anamosa in 1888. Throughout his long life Mr. Streeter has been accounted a man of integrity and a good citizen. While he did not seek the applause of men yet he sought their esteem, and sought also to make himself worthy of it. Being genial and affable he was true to the higher instincts of men and was always a gentleman. These qualities made his home-life-pleasant and secured for him a host of friends. Mr. Streeter was converted him a host of friends. Mr. Streeter was converted at the age of 22. He was a Bible reader and always a religious man, though he did not unite with any church. It was his purpose to have united with the Baptist church of Anamosa and he had conversation with his wife about it only a week before his death.

The following is an extract of remarks made at the funeral by Rev. A. H. Ballard, pastor of the Baptist church.

Mr. Streeter selected the words: "So teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom," (Ps. 90:12), as a text from which his funeral should be preached. This text therefore comes as his last words to friends and relatives. He evidently had in mind this text as a lesson and word of warning to you, and could his cold lips speak at this hour it would be to inhis funeral should be preached. This text thereand integrity of your husband and father, however honorable he may have been; not in rememlesson and word of warning to you, and could his the relatively large number of aged men I met. I had lived in a city of recent growth, where the men were younger, and where there were few aged persons, where it was exceptional to meet an aged man. But when I came here I could not but notice the large percentage of grayheaded ones. The evening of life has drawn nigh for many an one in Anamosa. Their heads are frosted over. While many have made preparation for the latter end, so rapidly approaching, many are unprepared to die. Mr. Streeter desired you who to-day assemble to pay last respects to his remains, to solemnly consider these words, "So teach us to solemnly consider these words, "So teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom." He desired you to consider the shortness and frailty of life; the certainty of a speedy termination of the life that now is; for what prospect for this world can be cherished by one that is already old? Therefore he would have you, who are so soon to die, to make preparations to meet God. He would have you consider the certainty of death; and that the span of life is granted you to make preparation for the life beyond. There are so many who are just going to do. Resolutions are formed, but nothing is done. Probably a majority of those aged ones propose Probably a majority of those aged ones propose yet to make preparation for death. They are just going to do. To such this text cannot fail to be a timely admonition.

When I first came to Anamosa I was struck with

And we are to apply our hearts unto wisdom. What does this expression mean? To gain a heart of wisdom. The highest wisdom is to be reconciled to God. The chief purpose of this life is to prepare for the life to come. That life is long in which preparation is made, it matters not how few the years may be. That life is all too short, no matter though the person dies in a good old. no matter though the person dies in a good old age, in which preparation is not made. To apply our hearts unto wisdom, to prepare to meet God, this is the language of common sense, as it is the language of Scripture.

And in making our preparation for death we are to let God teach us. He who does not let God teach him of the future will never know the future. The attitude of every heart should be, "Teach us to number our days." To listen to a voice out of the eternities, and that the voice of God calling to repentance.

when the two disciples were going to Emmaus conversing with the unknown Lord, the wish of their hearts was expressed in the words, "Abide with us, for it is toward evening." May your attitude to-day, when the evening of life is come, be expressed in the language of the two disciples: "Abide with me, for it is toward evening." And you who mourn to-day will find your chief consolahowever much he may have loved you; but you will find it, I believe, and I believe it with all my heart, in the hope of your father's faith that was fixed in the Rock of Ages, and bid you to cherish a hope of meeting in the better world.

CARD OF THANKS.

To the friends who so kindly assisted us at the time of the death of our beloved husband and father we return to you all our sincere thanks for your kind words and assistance.
