Allen Sivers Have Been Married 70 yrs.

2 Feb. 1961

Mrs. Allen J. Siver is shown chatting with her husband at the nursing home in Springville where he has been a patient for the past four years and where the Sivers will quietly celebrate their 70th wedding anniversary on Sunday, Feb. 28.

Mr. Siver is able to be up in a chair for part of each day but needs help in walking since he fractured a hip about a year ago. Mrs. Siver, who goes to see him frequently continues to live on the farm which she and her husband operated prior to their retirement a number of years ago. She is able to do her own housework but her son Arthur and his family, who live on the same farm, look in on her every day.

Cora Etta Manly and Allen James Siver, the latter a native of New York state, were married Feb. 26, 1891, in the home of the bride's parents north of Mechanicsville. They were engaged in farming all their active lives. Mr. Siver is 89 years old and his wife is 89.

Mr. and Mrs. Siver have three sons, James Otis and John Allen of Mechanicsville, and Arthur T. of Martelle, who live on adjoining farms. They also have seven grandchildren, 15 great-grandchildren, and four great-great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Siver's family, the Manlys, who are scattered throughout the United States, have kept in touch by means of a "round robin" letter, which makes the rounds every few months. The picture of the Sivers, taken on the porch of the rest home, was included in the last letter sent to members of the group.

75 years ago — April 7, 1910

The Jones County Savings Bank of Morley was approved as a savings bank by the state. Directors of that bank were Cyrus Lamb, E.E. Sawyer, A.K. Burroughs, Peter Duncan, A.E. McConaughy, A.C. Burroughs and John Miller.

From Anamosa To Fairview, Road To Fame--Old 151

By John Bodenhofer

Some time ago an article appeared in Look Magazine about a street in Boston named "Fame" because of the people with a national reputation who had lived on this street at some time. Some of these people were Harriett Beecher Stowe, Benjamin Franklin, Dwight L. Moody.

Along the road from the Wapsipinicon bridge after leaving Anamosa, through the woods to Fairview and to Fairview, there have been quite a few boys born and reared who have become prominent and gained a national reputation.

There were two who became lawyers and bankers, a prominent doctor, the world's finest penman, four ministers, one of whom was the highest paid minister in the United States in his time, two judges, a missionary to China for 43 years, and another physician and surgeon. And so these few miles of the Old Military Road, now United States highway 151, could well be called a "Road of Fame." (Editor's note: The road is now a county pavement, commonly known as old 151)

However, to begin with, it will be necessary to tell that at the end of the bridge crossing the Wapsipinicon river out of Anamosa, Iowa, a man by the name of John Campbell built a house, which was razed only three or four years ago and weeping willow trees now grow in that spot. These beautiful willows might be weeping over the conditions which existed there during the early 70's and 80's. A saloon and gambling house, was kept by John Campbell. It was hardly safe to travel this stretch of the road, especially on a Saturday afternoon or evening, because of the drunks and people who gathered at that saloon.

This article was written by the late John Bodenhofer, former Jones county supervisor and sheriff, who was born and raised on the Fairview-Anamosa road. Mr. Bodenhofer was the father of Mrs. Hylah Tonne, who found this manuscript with his things after his death at age 90, ten years ago. We are indebted to her for sharing it with us, and with you.

This was written more than 10 years ago, and of course then have been changes since the article was written also.

After we leave this spot on the Road of Fame, the first house at the top of the hill was the William Soesbe home. The same house still remains except it has been rebuilt.

Mr. and Mrs. Soesbe reared quite a large family, and two of their family were the Honorable Sam W. Soesbe and E. W. Soesbe who both studied law and became prominent lawyers and bankers at Greene, in Butler county.

The Hon. S. W. Soesbe also served as state senator in the 23rd General Assembly from Butler and Bremer counties. The United States flag which hangs over every school house in the State of Iowa is there because of a law passed by S. W. Soesbe.

Going on up this Road of Fame one-half mile further past the Soesbe home is the school house where most of these boys got their first schooling. Across the Road of Fame is the same house where Dr. E. W. Lockwood was born and reared. He graduated from Rush Medical College in Chicago in 1875 and was a prominent doctor and banker at Glidden. He married a girl at Olin, Sherilda Mershon, daughter of Noble Mershon.

On west 40 rods and just west of the late David Grassfield home, was a three room log house which was razed some years past. This is where Daniel Stutsman and wife lived and where their son, Henry H. Stutsman was born and reared. He was known as the world's greatest and finest penman with a national reputation. When I was in Los Angeles some time ago I saw an article in a magazine with Henry Stutsman's picture in which it said, "World's Finest Penman."

We go on west to the Fish House Corner where the first state fish hatchery was located. This fish hatchery was the first in Iowa and was established by an act of the state legislature in 1874.

B. F. Shaw of Anamosa was the first fish warden at that place.

Here at the Fish House Corner was a log and frame house where Israel and Sarah Luse lived. Mr. Luse was a Methodist preacher but was not ordained. They had four sons, Frank, James, Wil-and John, all outstanding Methodist ministers and Frank Luse was the highest paid minister in the United States at the time of his pastorate as the head of the First Methodist Church in New York City.

We turn here on this Road of Fame at the Fish House Corner and go south 20 rods to the first place where a man by the name of Huber built the first house. He afterwards moved to Anamosa and was among the first school teachers and had much to do with our early school system. Later he was a judge in the Circuit Court. Huber Street in Anamosa, Iowa, was named after the late Judge Huber.

In the village of Fairview was the Fairview Academy which was not in the main part of the village but was in a suburb of Fairview. It was south on Sand hill in a three-story building which later was called the Darling House. Here was Milo P.

Smith who at the age of 23 resigned as teacher of this school and on the 18th day of May, 1861, walked to Lisbon, Iowa, and enlisted in the Civil War. He was mustered out as a major at the end of the Civil War and was later a Judge of the 18th Judicial District of Jones, Linn, and Cedar Counties, in Iowa.

In Fairview the brick house on the west side of this Road of Fame was known as the John Seerist home. John Seerist enlisted in the Civil War and became captain of the 13th Iowa Regiment, or better known as the famous Colonel Crocker Brigade.

Also on this road in the town of Fairview was the William Manly home. Here Wm. Manly and his wife, Ann, had 2 sons: the Rev. Ed Manly who passed away in 1952 at Helena, Mont., after being a missionary in West China for some 43 years, and Dr. Fred Manly, now of Phoenix, N. Y., who is a prominent physician and surgeon.

What a contrast meets our eyes every day. Truth and falsehood walked side by side down our street. Vice and virtue met and passed every hour of the day. The groan of the dying and the cry of the infant mingled together under the same roof.

The bridal party treaded close on the heels of the funeral procession and we also found Milo P. Smith at the south end of the Road of Fame teaching and dispensing education and good citizenship and the best for the welfare of mankind. At the other end of this Road of Fame we found old John Campbell with his saloon destroying the best in young manhood. These were some of the contrasts on this Road of Fame.

ANAMOSA EUREKA NEWSPAPER

2 NOV 1871

MARRIED: DENNIS SULLIVAN and JENNIE MOORE on 24 Oct.

DIED: ARMENIA Y. BOWEN, on 30 Oct, aged 43 years and 10 months, wife of ASA C. BOWEN. At Sand Springs, Delaware county.

Armenia was born in Herkimer county N.Y. and passed her childhood and youth in that romantic locality of East Canada Creek, a few miles from its entrance into the Mohawk. There in the lap of nature, nursed by a christian household, was laid the foundation of that character which later years matured into unusual ripeness and richness.

In 1851 she came to Iowa as the bride of ASA C. BOWEN and settled at Bowen's Prairie Jones county, where for some 15 years she presided over household, garden and dairy with marked dignity and grace, as hundreds of guests can most truthfully and cheerfully testify. It is doubtful if any citizen of Iowa ever inducted more settlers or entertained more visitors than this pioneer family during the period mentioned. Our county fairs and in fact, all our public exercises and celebrations were aided materially and spiritually by her who is now no more.

JAMES J. WALWORTH, brother to C.C. WALWORTH, one of the early settlers in this place, and for many years past engaged in a brass and iron foundry business in Boston, Mass, lost a hundred thousand by the destruction of his branch house in Chicago, by the recent great fire.

9 NOV 1871

MARRIED: GEORGE A. COLBY and ADDIE STIVERS on 4 Nov.

E.S. REMINGTON and DELIA ANDERSON on 1 Nov.

23 NOV 1871

MARRIED: A.W. HAY and DILLIA L. DUNLAP on 19 Nov.

DIED: Sheriff CRANE, who has just returned from Mt. Pleasant, informs us that JANE GASSETT, (formerly married, we believe), a resident of Monticello several years since, died at Mt. Pleasant Insane Asylum on the 10th of Nov.

30 NOV 1871

DIED: JULIA ANN LATHROP, on 18 Nov, age 44 years and 22 days, wife of JOSHUA S. LATHROP. Her sickness was short and her death unexpected. She was sick only a week with neuralgia in the head, and about 14 hours before her death she had a shock of paralysis.

MARRIED: WILLIAM PAUL Jr. and MARY McBURNEY on 23 Nov.

FRANK COOLEY and MARY GLICK on 26 Nov.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE IN MONTICELLO
 "FIRE" cry rang out at 2:45 am, soon it was discovered the billard saloon on 1st street, owned by W.E. BERRY and occupied by WARRINER and MONROE, was one sheet of flame. All hope of saving this building was at once abandoned. The next building on the west was the store of McCORMICK & KENNEDY, which was a wooden structure, and stood only about a foot from the first named. With our inadequate fire facilities, nothing could be done towards saving it, and the crowd betook themselves to saving the stock. This was done. In 5 minutes, this building was wrapped in flames. The next was the drug store of Dr. N.M. SMITH & SON, which shared a like fate. Their goods were gotten out, though in a some what damaged condition. The Post Office stood next. After emptying it of its contents, the people, by means of ropes and hard work, pulled the building down--thus saving PEAK & WHITTEMORE'S and GILES BROTHERS' store. At one time it was thought that these must go, and the former now presents the appearance of having been pretty badly roasted. The brick building owned by DURHAM, MILLER & CONDON, on the east, was saved only after the most desperate exertions by our citizens, as also the residence and store of Mrs. C. DERBINS. The loses were:
 W.E. BERRY, saloon and fixtures $2,500; insured for $2,000.
 WARRINER & MONROE, stock in saloon, $200; no insurance.
 McCORMICK & KENNEDY, store building and damage to goods, (con't next column) probably about $3,500; insured $2,500.

Dr. N.M. SMITH & SON, drug store, Post Office building and loss of stock $2,500; no insurance.

PEAK & WHITTEMORE, damage to stock, unknown, but fully insured. GILES BROTHERS the same. Mrs. DERBINS the same.

JAMES DAVIDSON, postmaster, loss about $200; no insurance.

GARDNER & DURHAM, damage to stock and building about $1,700; fully insured.

This was the second great fire that has occurred here within a little more than a year.

SEPT. 7, 1897.

Tuesday was very hot and following the cool weather which has prevailed, the people suffered very much from it. It is just what is needed however to mature crops.

Another has joined the great majority, another has answered the last call, another now beckons from the other shore to the loving ones left behind. Martelle has lost another of its old inhabitants. Ripe in years and rich in merits, honored and respected in her grey hairs, but careworn and weary to whom death was a welcome messenger. Mrs. W. Webster passed peacefully away at 4 a. m. Wednesday, September 7, at her home a short distance south of town. Old age departs naturally as the ripe fruit falls from the tree. She closed her eyes to earthly scenes without a sigh, or a murmur or a pang. There are none left to take her place, and it is not probable that we shall soon look upon her again.

The pains of death are past,

Labor and sorrow cease,

And life's long warfare closed at last,

The soul is found in peace.

To the; Linn Grove church her body was laid to rest in the
